Overview

This three-day course will cover the current management of head and neck cancer within a multidisciplinary framework. The format will consist of lectures, panel discussions and operative techniques. There will be a series of Keynote addresses dealing with some of the more controversial topics. There will be time allocated for audience participation through question and answer sessions. The course is suitable both for trainees (residents and fellows) in ENT, Maxfac, Plastics and Radiotherapy in preparation for exams, as well as providing a stimulating update for practicing surgeons and physicians.

Objectives

The course aims to present a multidisciplinary approach towards the management of patients with Head and Neck cancer through the use of surgery, radiotherapy and chemotherapy. There will be a discussion of the diagnosis and management of patients with head and neck cancer with special emphasis given to recent advances in diagnostic tools, therapeutic regimes and surgical techniques. Through panel discussion and question and answer sessions, the delegates will benefit from the experience of a faculty assembled from many of the leading Head and Neck cancer centres in Europe and North America.
